The appeal is first to be submitted to the president, except where allied crafts are organized as district trade unions. The aggrieved party can appeal from the president's decision to the executive council, and finally to the international body. An effort made to repeal the law punishing by expulsion from the union any member who publishes malicious or untrue articles against a federal member failed. The report of the laws committee on the matter of salaries of the international officials caused considerable discussion, several members taking the view that the compensation was inequitably divided. was finally decided to pay the president and secretary-treasurer $1,800 each annually, with traveling expenses added. The committee recommended $2,100 for the president and $300 for the secretary-treasurer. Delegate Cutting, of Boston, proposed a aw prohibiting any member of the union from becoming a member of the National Guard or other military organization. This gave rise to an animated debate. Delegate chols, of Baltimore, said that if the militia was not organized among the friends of labor it would be organized among its During the discussion one dele gate cried out: "Would it be good policy for us to declare ourselves against the government of our country?" Other speakers declared that the organization should not go on record against the military. On motion the whole proposition was then tabled. The climax in the agitation against the "insanity trust" was probably reached yesterday when a suit for $15,000 damages was filed against alleged members of the "trust" who sat on the commission that declared John Ross insane. The complaint begins by saying that the plaintiff's name is whom Dr. Caldas will inoculate with his John Mros, instead of John Ross, and that he so informed the defendants before the commission "sat" on him. The defendants in the suit are J. B. Young, J. F. Benham, L. F. Hicks, William S. Lockman, Eliza-

Ida Winkler yesterday brought suit against Adolph E. Rohde and his wife, who have a grocery at 2218 East Washington street, for $3,000 damages. She alleges that she was forcibly detained in their store for three hours, much to her "humiliation and anguish of mind.' Rohde says the trouble started over a grocery bill. He says the Winklers owed him a bill and that Winkler left his wife's watch with him as security for the payment of the account. Some time after that, he says, Mrs. Winkler came to the store and asked to see if the watch was in good condition. Rohde gave her the timepiece and, he says, she then put it into her pocket and started to walk out of the store. He did not know what to do and says that he stopped her, called the police and held her until the officers came. THE NEGRO AS FOOD.

This Writer Pushes the Belles Theory to a Logical Conclusion.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: The book, written by W. H. Belles, referred to in a dispatch from Covington, Ind., published in this morning's Journal, suggests a legitimate and commendably utilitarian solution of the negro question. Why not make him an article of food? If he is, according to the Bible, no more than a beast, then, according to the Bible, he is a proper article of food. From the logic of this there is no escape. God's covenant with Noah gave him "every living creature" for food. If that makes a wider sweep than is here required, it but makes a by so much stronger case for this use of the negro. But the word "beasts," which occurs in the relation several verses doubtless fairly be connected with it, thus restricting Noah's license to use all "living" creatures for food to "living beasts." The later restricting of the Jews to the use as food of beasts with split hoofs osition, as the negro's hoof can certainly be regarded as very effectually split, while, if not universally, he is, as everybody knows, very generally addicted to This is a very advanced view, to be sure.

chewing the cud. t may give many persons a kind of shock. but various doctrines quite as horrible are to-day tenaciously retained in several of the creeds, ostensibly upon the authority of the Bible. And as to this, now, is the consequent really any worse than the antecedent? Yet this antecedent "anti-negro" societies are preparing to push, while there are people in our own city-and it is no mean city, we were lately told, and often enough tell ourselves-who are ready to maintain that the negro is no more than a beast. Why should such shrink from the corollary-except as a matter of taste which custom must correct? And in our own South, where the negro was formerly used for breeding purposes quite as the cattle were, and is now almost daily roasted and then wasted, it should be but a short step to the more advanced economic practice made logically necessary by Mr. Belles's proposition. The "anti-negro" societies of "Chicago and other large cities" should be consistent in their application of biblical principles, or they may become ridiculcus. O. W. SEARS. Indianapolis, Aug. 14.

The walls of the buildings on Meridian street from Monument place to Washington street have echoed the notes of the trumpet of the Salvation Army, the songs of the Pentecost Band, the preachings of the Mormons and the crying of the Socialists, and it seemed that everything in the category of science, religion and philosophy had been expounded from this public speaking ground, but last night turned up something new. The speaker was Henry M. Lawson, walks on Gale street, from Massachusetts of Battle Creek, Mich., and he held a crowd avenue to the Belt, and from Glen drive to about him for several hours. It was his second appearance before the public of Indianapolis. His doctrine was the most peculiar in its make-up, covering everything from politics to Sunday-school teaching taken strictly "from a Bible standpoint." Mr. Lawson went to the Bible to show that labor unions are in violation of the divine law, that trusts are incidental offsprings of all that is but good, that hypnotism, mind reading, mesmerism, spiritualism and all the occult sciences are of direct inspiration from the devil, that all humanity is intemperate and that intemperance "starts at the family table," that the laws of the country and the Constitution of the United States are repugnant and not for the freedom of man in many respects, that there is nothing new under the sun, as con-

He said no reforms were ever accomplished through the ballot box nor by revolution. that the only remedy for the many evils was to "get the people right." On the side, he thought that free silver has its merits and voted for Bryan. The capitalists' stand before the civil war, he says, was on the side of slavery, and when that was taken from them they sought gold, then "followed the demonetization of silver," until now exist practically the same conditions regarding capital that existed before the

The purpose of Mr. Lawson's talks is to merely "start people to thinking." That is his only mission, he says. His work is purely one of love and philanthropy, he said, and at no time has he ever taken up a collection or asked for money from the people. He stated that he works with churches, schools, the Women's Christian, Temperance Union, and the Young Men's Christian Association, giving lectures in series. He contemplates giving a series of ten lectures in this city under the auspices of the local Young Men's Christian Association. which will perhaps be given at Fairview Park. Negotiations are now pending and Mr. Lawson said he hoped to be able by the last of the week to positively announce just what he will do while in the city. Incidentally he is selling and advertising a cereal and at present is at the head of a crowd of boys distributing literature, calling the attention of the public to his ware. CLAIM TO BE INNOCENT.
